Elba and Coffee County superintendents discuss 'closure' announcement

by Linda Hodge, Editor

Alabama Governor Kay Ivey and State Superintendent of Education Dr. Eric Mackey announced Thursday, March 26, the closure of all Alabama Schools for the remainder of the 2019-2020 school year.

While this closure means no school will take place in the school buildings, the governor and state superintendent said alternative methods would be used in this unprecedented time to ensure Alabama's children still receive their instructional hours for the rest of this school year. They said 'how' that happens will be left up to each individual school system to identify the plan that works best for its students.

This is all due to continued safety measures being put in place in the state to try and protect citizens from the novel coronavirus [COVID-19].

Dr. Mackey said the new target date for the 2019-2020 school year to end now would be June 5th.

Shortly following Thursday's announcement, Elba City Schools Superintendent Chris Moseley sent out a message to the Elba community.

"As most of you already know, it has been announced that students will not return to school for the remainder of this school year," he said.

"We had already begun planning for this possibility before we closed." Schools already had been closed since March 19th due to the COVID-19 crisis and were scheduled to return to school on Monday, April 6, until last Thursday's announcement from the governor and state schools superintendent.

Coffee County Schools Superintendent Kevin Killingsworth said the following in a letter he released following the announcement. He noted while the announcement was disheartening and not the course hoped for, the Coffee County Schools' district is working diligently to develop a plan that will ensure

To minimize the risk of exposure to the coronavirus for citizens and employees, all Coffee County buildings were closed to the public effective Friday, March 27.

County administrator Rod Morgan said county offices will continue to operate and staff will be present, but all offices will be closed to the public until further notice. Local conditions will continue to be evaluated daily and county offices will reopen as soon as it is feasible to do so.

Substantially, all transactions at county offices (including payments, recording documents, and viewing documents or maps) can be conducted online, over the phone, or by mail. Information regarding county offices can be found online at www.coffeecounty.us.

All county senior centers will continue to provide meals for pickup at the center and will continue home delivery of meals.

Anyone needing to make a payment to the Revenue Commissioner may call the Revenue Office at (334) 897-2475 (Elba) or (334) 347-8734 (Enterprise) to make payment arrangements.

HOUSE FIRE DESTROYS HOME IN CURTIS COMMUNITY...The Elba Volunteer Fire Department, assisted by Opp Fire, extinguished this house fire last Thursday afternoon, March 26, before it could spread to other nearby structures. Elba Fire was dispatched to the house fire at 4385 Highway 141 just prior to 3 p.m. last Thursday, and the first firefighters on scene found the house fully engulfed in flames. Above, one of the first firemen to attack the massive burner actually is shown running towards the flames with water hoses across his shoulder. The firemen worked diligently and had the flames under control in less than 30 minutes; however, they remained on scene for several hours working to put out any flare ups and hotspots. While firefighters were battling the fire, a portion of Highway 141 between Danley's Crossroads and U.S. Highway 84 was blocked off to traffic. Assisting firefighters on scene were officers with the Elba Police Department, Coffee County Sheriff's Department, as well as emergency medical responders with Haynes Ambulance. No injuries resulted from this fire.

Amended statewide public health order in effect through April 17th

by Linda Hodge, Editor

On Friday, March 27, Alabama Governor Kay Ivey and Alabama Public Health Officer Dr. Scott Harris held a press conference to announce the state's amended statewide 'safer at home' public health order for social distancing.

This order further suspended certain public gatherings and closed more businesses, using the legal term 'non-essential' due to the risk of infection by the novel coronavirus disease [COVID-19].

Governor Ivey announced Friday that effective Saturday, March 28, at 5 p.m., all non-work related gatherings of 10 or more persons, or non-work related gatherings of any size that cannot maintain a consistent six-foot distance between person are prohibited. She said these new public health orders would remain in effect in Alabama through 5 p.m. Friday, April 17, 2020.

"Employers shall take all reasonable steps to meet these standards for employees and customers," the governor noted.

However, Governor Ivey then presented a very lengthy list of businesses, venues and activities that were being ordered closed to non-employees or not take place from 5 p.m. March 28th through 5 p.m. April 17th. These included:

- Entertainment venues such as: night clubs, bowling alleys, arcades, concert venues, theaters, auditoriums, performing arts centers, tourist attractions (including museums and planetariums), race tracks, indoor children's play areas, adult entertainment venues, casinos, bingo halls, venues operated by social clubs;

- Athletic facilities and activities, such as: fitness centers and commercial gyms, spas and public or commercial swimming pools, yoga, barre and spin facilities, spectator sports, sports that involve interaction with another person

The State of Alabama showed a total of 979 cases of COVID-19 had been confirmed in the state as of 3:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 31st. At that time, only eight counties in the state had not reported a confirmed case - Coffee County remained among those eight. The total tested and reported to ADPH at this time Tuesday was 7,249. There had been 20 deaths with 13 of those fully investigated and attributed directly to the COVID-19 virus.

closer than 6-feet, activities that require use of shared sporting apparatus and equipment;

- Close-contact service providers, such as: barber shops, hair salons, waxing salons, threading salons, nail salons and spas, body-art facilities and tattoo services, tanning salons, massage-therapy establishments and massage services;

- Retail stores, such as: furniture and home-furnishings stores, clothing, shoe and clothing-accessory stores, jewelry, luggage and leather goods stores, department stores, sporting goods stores, book, craft and music stores.

The governor said all Alabama beaches would remain closed during this new order as well. She had originally ordered the beaches closed on March 19th. The order uses the term 'beach' to include places with a sandy shoreline area abutting the Gulf of Mexico, whether privately or pub-

WHEN YOU'RE ON YOUR OWN, WE ARE THERE WITH YOU.

As the United States faces the worst public health crisis in a generation, we want you to know we are here for you — and with you.

Whatever happens, whenever it happens, your newspaper will be there for you. We'll be there to let you know how our community is managing through this crisis — from business to government to the health care system and schools to the drastic impact on individuals and families.

And, we'll be there to let you know about the good and extraordinary things happening in the midst of this crisis — the way people in our community are coming together to help health workers, the city and nonprofit workers attending to the homeless community, the volunteers bringing food to and shopping for the elderly people who cannot leave their homes, and the health workers putting themselves in harm's way to care for the sick.

Amidst the sadness and anxiety, there are uplifting moments that remind us of the resilience of the human spirit, and we'll be there to document those too.

We are here to help you make sense of the situation and to help you navigate it.

Having fact-based, reliable reporting that provides public scrutiny and oversight is more important than ever. Together, across the decades, this newspaper and its readers have navigated horrific events — natural disasters, terrorism, financial downturns, periods of extreme political and societal division.

This challenge is greater than any of those, but, rest assured, we'll be here for you. We are a resilient community where people come together to build and rebuild. Let's stick together, and we will come through this, too.

The lockdown is getting tighter and tighter both in Alabama and nationwide in the wake of the ravaging effects of the new virus issue. A week ago we made a snide remark after Governor Ivey announced a number of businesses having to shut their doors for a while due to the spread of this virus. We noted openly that she didn't dare shut down the beauty shops and only a female would have known the importance of those places to our society. Well, here we fast forward to Friday morning, just as Heddy and I got back from her weekly hair appointment and there the governor is on the air announcing the shutdown of, among others, beauty and barber shops. Women had a 24-hour notice that it would weeks before they again had access to their favorite hair styling shop. More than one female immediately got on the phone seeking an appointment . . . immediately! Women should not worry – they are all in the same boat. Seriously our sympathy goes out to the beauticians and all the other folks who are suddenly unemployed through no fault of their own and for an unknown length of time, but hopefully it will save lives. Who knows where the other shoe will drop in the desperate effort to stop or at least slow the spread of Corona 19.

All these preventive measures may be over-reacting, but it will be far better to look back and acknowledge we hit the panic button rather than be saying "Oops, we goofed."

We will take the government check the feds are promising everyone but feel guilty. The government doesn't have this two-trillion-dollars and our conscience pings a bit when we know that our grandchildren, and their children will be saddled with paying the interest on this wad of money. Paying just the interest we say, as the principal will probably never, ever be repaid. The United States government was already operating on a budget that was a trillion dollars in the red for this year and now . . . now the politicians are taking pats on the back for their actions. Oh, we would have voted for the massive spending had we been one of the Washington elite but would like to have seen them operating on a balanced budget BEFORE this unexpected emergency arose. Alas that is not the way government works. It is not the way politicians go back home and tell the folks how much money they "got from Washington" for the home folks. They spend borrowed money, get re-elected, increase their own pay, etc. and life goes forward.

It isn't all doom and gloom around Elba, Ala. This Amaryllis is proof positive. Heddy's potted plants have gone sorely lacking since caring for them fell to ye 'ole publisher by default. This beautiful blooming plant has not had any water, fertilizer, etc. since – who knows when! Yet it is displaying blooms like never before. Also, while looking up the correct spelling of 'Amaryllis', Google showed an ad wanting to sell various colors of this flower. The red one was priced at over a hundred dollars (only one left!). The one that matched the flower in this picture was 'only' $69.99! They clearly are not hard to grow . . . this one is living testament to that fact.

Marine Patrol Division reminds everyone about social distancing/water safety

Because schools, businesses and churches have closed indefinitely in response to the Coronavirus (COVID-19), more people are spending their free time on Alabama waterways.

Activity on Alabama's lakes, rivers and other bodies of water typically increases during spring break season, but ALEA's Marine Patrol Division Troopers have seen numbers spike during the past few days with COVID-19 closures. These Troopers are patrolling waterways daily, and they want everyone to have an enjoyable but safe time by adhering to Governor

Kay Ivey's order as it relates to combating the spread of the virus.

Alabama beaches were closed March 19, and effective Saturday, March 28, all non-work related gatherings on 10 persons or more, or non-work related gatherings of any size that cannot maintain a consistent 6-foot distance between individuals, also were prohibited.

Troopers with ALEA's Marine Patrol remind boaters of social distancing, as well as water safety:

- The designated driver practice works just as well on the water as it does on the road. If boaters insist on having alcohol on board, make sure there is a designated driver.

- Be courteous and cautious.

- Follow boating rules. Know what to do in a head-to-head meeting and know the right-of-way rules and regulations.

- Make sure life jackets are accessible, in good condition, sized for the intended individual and U.S. Coast Guard-approved. There must be one personal flotation device (PFD) on board for each person on the boat that is sized and intended for that individual. Children younger than the age of 8 must wear PFDs.

- When boating at night, make sure the required navigation lights are on and in good working order. Operate at slower speeds and don't venture into unfamiliar territory.

- Give other boaters plenty of room. Don't operate too closely to private docks or the shoreline, and give skiers and swimmers a wide berth.

- Never overload a vessel. Follow the capacity plate guidelines.

- Make it a habit to check the vessel's safety equipment before using the vessel – every time.

all students receive critical standards for the last nine weeks of school.

"Our primary goal is to ensure the health and safety of our students, while delivering critical content to provide opportunities for promotion to the next grade level and to earn the second-semester credits required to advance [students] in their pursuit of college and career goals," Killingsworth said.

Both school systems were scheduled for Spring Break this week and have been observing that as normal. A return to educating begins Monday, April 6, only from a distance learning perspective instead of the normal classroom setting for the last nine weeks of school.

Both Moseley and Killingsworth said more information would be provided to their faculty, students and parents throughout this Spring Break week as all prepared for their new way of teaching and learning to begin next week and continue until the end of this school year.

"To our parents and students, please be patient as we gather information and make decisions for the remainder of this year," Moseley said. "I assure you we will get information out as we develop plans."

Elba City Schools has announced this week a plan for food distribution to students for breakfast and lunch for each Monday – Friday. Please see Page 7 of today's paper for more information on that plan.

"While I am aware there are still many questions and concerns, I assure everyone that we are committed to addressing these questions and providing more guidance as information becomes available," Killingsworth said.

Each superintendent encouraged all to continue to monitor website pages, Facebook pages, etc. for updates. They also said they would be utilizing the phone messaging systems to get information out as well.

"As educators we are all heartbroken for the activities that would be missed for the remainder of the year," Moseley said. "That being said, depending on where this goes there are possibilities of some activities taking place much later than expected."

During last week's announcement, Dr. Mackey said events such as proms, graduations, etc. could possibly still be held; however, he said that would need to be after the June 5th date.

Moseley and Killingsworth said, if possible, the schools would make every effort to make sure such events [that were upcoming when the schools were closed] take place even if during the summer.

Additionally, Ivey said all regular programs for Senior Citizens Centers would remain ended with centers closed. However, she centers and their partners were encouraged to continue to meeting the needs of their clients by providing meals via curbside pick-up or delivery.

Last Friday's amended health order also closed in-person instruction or classes at all schools, public and private, including but not limited to: elementary, secondary, postsecondary, technical, or specialty schools, and colleges and universities.

All hospitals and nursing homes/long term care facilities (including assisted living and specialty care assisted living facilities) are to prohibit visitation of all visitors, except in certain compassionate care situations such as maternity and end-of-life.

Also, effective March 28, all dental, medical, or surgical procedures were postponed by the state health order until further notices. There were some exceptions noted regarding emergency medical procedures.

Friday's amended health order also kept in place an order regarding restaurants, bars, breweries, or similar establishments to not permit on-premises consumption of food or drink. Governor Ivey did encourage Alabama citizens to continue to support these businesses by ordering takeout or delivery and ordering online for curbside pickup of food, as well as, utilizing drive-thru services where available.

Dr. Harris added that prior to the April 17th date for the end of the current health order that officials would make a determination as to whether or not there needs to be an extension to the current public health order.

The History of RIP

It's one of the most commonly-used abbreviations in our culture—RIP, or rest in peace. Not only do you notice it on headstones, but you often see it employed on social media following the death of a loved one, friend, or celebrity. Have you ever stopped to wonder, though, where this abbreviation came from?

Something that may surprise you is those three letters haven't always stood for rest in peace. Initially, the acronym represented a Latin phrase—requiscat in pace, which means "may [the person who has died] rest in peace." This phrase goes back at least as far as the 8th Century, when it became commonly used on Christian gravestones. In these early days, Christians intended the phrase as a kind of prayer—a request for God to be merciful to the deceased person, and for the departed soul to find eternal rest.

Eventually, of course, that Latin phrase was whittled down to three little letters; RIP became a common inscription on headstones back in the early 1600s, and it wasn't long before its meaning was translated from Latin into English.

While the abbreviation has Christian origins, its meaning has become fairly widespread in Western culture; it represents a non-sectarian wish for the deceased to be afforded respect and for their passing to be acknowledged by well-wishers.

As you consider RIP and other ways to signify the death of a close loved one, make sure you speak to a qualified funeral director—someone who can guide you toward both timeless and contemporary expressions of mourning and bereavement.

Reflections: Welcome to Real Life

by Michael J. Brooks

I responded to an offer to try the Lifetime Movie Club on a trial basis. I thought this might be good entertainment during these days with few evening commitments. I'd understood LMC was a channel overflowing with happy programming. After viewing a few episodes, however, I realized something must be wrong. These movies are filled with double-dealing, disappointment and deceit.

A friend enlightened me. "No, it's Hallmark that has the happy movies," he said. I was wrong. This month I have the channel of real life!

I suppose that's what we're all experiencing in these days. Real life means no worship, no school and no hugging people we love. We pray this terrible contagion be over soon and we can return to real life.

But, actually, real life is not always happy. Real life has divorce, drunk driving, hunger, disease, abuse, financial crises and death. Real life will continue after COVID-19 is a distant memory.

I remember a Billy Graham film from long ago entitled, "For Pete's Sake." It was influential in my teen-aged years and a film churches used to screen on Sunday nights for a change-of-pace. This movie tells the story of Pete, a new Christian. Pete's life was filled with good things, good humor and new discoveries until his wife had a seizure and died.

Of course, Pete was devastated to lose the love of his life. He confronted his pastor: "To think I trusted God, and this is the way he deals," he said.

Pete had to come to terms with real life. And though some critics claimed otherwise, the Graham organization didn't ignore this, but taught us the truth about discipleship way back in the 60s—being a Christian doesn't shield us from the tragedies of life.

Jesus insisted that it rains on the just and the unjust (Matthew 5:45).

We don't live in a dream world. However, we know being a Christian means we have new perspective on tragedy. We believe God strengthens us in difficulty and uses it for ultimate good. Nor does he abandon us. We also believe we have new partners in the faith community to love us through pain.

The late Lewis Drummond was among my favorite seminary teachers. I remember a comment he made one day in class.

"When has God ever removed his people from tribulation?" he asked. "Instead, his promise is to see us through it."

Who knows what trials await us in the days after COVID-19? I don't choose to be a fatalist because by nature I'm an optimist. I believe God will see us through, that he has a good plan for his people and in his future kingdom he will set things right.

Due to COVID-19 crisis

Basin Baptist Church moving church services online for now

During this unprecedented time of social distancing due to the Coronavirus pandemic across the state and nation, Basin Baptist Church has altered its presentation of church services to be able to still bring the Word of God to its people.

Until the church is able to safely reopen the church building for its regular Sunday and Wednesday gatherings, Basin Baptist Church will be offering a Sunday morning worship service at 11 a.m. and a Wednesday evening service at 6:30 p.m. on its public Facebook page (look for Basin Baptist Church).

 Pastor's 15th Anniversary Celebration will be Sunday, April 5, at Mt. Chapel Missionary Baptist Church, Andalusia, Ala. for Rev. Elbert Freney and Sis. Alice Freney. Sunday School at 10:15 a.m.; Morning Worship at 11:30 a.m. with sermon by Rev. Lewis Matthews; Afternoon Service at 2:30 p.m. with sermon by Rev. Jimmy Lee.

Obedience Becomes Complicated

Obedience to God was simple when the world was young. You may eat from all the trees except that one. If you eat from it, you die. Adam and Eve violated the only prohibition in the world, and they paid the price. In later centuries, obedience became more complicated. God gave commandments and prohibitions by the dozens through Moses, but His people seemed intent on breaking them all.

Even so, a simple principle remained: Obedience brought spiritual prosperity, disobedience brought disaster. Why were God's people so slow to learn that? Why haven't people in general, with all their knowledge and sophistication, learned it yet?

Question / Answer Section

Q/A for the Week of 3/26/20 - True or False

Q: God takes no pleasure when people die.

A: True [read Ezekiel 18: 32]

Q: The Lord will eventually take away Jerusalem's judgement.

A: True [read Zephaniah 3: 15]

Think on These Things

This global health pandemic has a deadly grip on the whole nation but will not last forever. We as believers of our Lord and Savior Jesus the Christ, Son of the Living God realize that God is bigger than any disease. Keep your faith in Jesus because our hope is in Him, Trust and Believe, on His Holy Name. Let's do as the medical professionals tell us to do. Pray as never before. [read James 5:16]

Question for the Week of 4/2/20

Q: This statement comes from what (book), (chapter), and (verse) of the New Testament? For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have everlasting life. - NKJV-Nelson Study Bible

Today is a good day! Be grateful.

ALEA confirms STAR ID deadline extension and further limits in-person driver license services

The U.S. Department of Homeland Security, at the direction of President Donald J. Trump, is extending the REAL ID enforcement deadline to Oct. 1, 2021, in response to the Coronavirus (COVID-19).

Alabama's version of the federal REAL ID program is STAR ID, which stands for Secure, Trusted and Reliable Identification.

"We began modifying the Driver License Division operations Monday, March 16, and continued to serve customers on a more limited basis to reduce potential exposure to the virus," ALEA Secretary Hal Taylor said. "Starting March 26, ALEA Driver License offices will close all public access, and staff will remain on-site to answer phones and assist with online services. As always, we are dedicated to serving the citizens of this state, but we must make the health and safety of our customers and our personnel a priority. This deadline extension should relieve some of the wait time at ALEA's DL offices to obtain a STAR ID during the next several months."

During this closure, ALEA's Driver License personnel will be making contact with customers who scheduled appointments for services prior to the pandemic.

Please see below a summary of what services Alabama citizens will or will not be able to do at this time:

Customers will NOT be able to:

- Obtain first-time issuance of DL/CDL or ID card
- Take knowledge test (Learner's License, Motorcycle, CDL)
- Take road test
- Transfer out-of-state license

- Obtain foreign national/renewal
- Register vessel – first-time registration or transfer
- Obtain Ignition Interlock License

Customers will be able to:

- Renew DL/CDL/ID online
- Renew by mail – for Alabama drivers out of state for military, employment, missionary work, under a physician's care or other issues on a case-by-case basis
- Request a hearing online or by mail/fax. We will not take any law enforcement actions until hearing can be held.
- Change address by mail/email/fax. Address change document available online.
- Change name by mail/email. Contact ALEA DL for instructions.
- Renew hardship license
- Have license reinstated by mail/email/phone. May use credit card.
- Order MVR (driver history) by mail/email/phone. May use credit card.
- Order crash reports by mail/email/phone. May use credit card.

Once ALEA's Driver License Division resumes normal operations, customers may schedule an appointment on the agency's website to obtain a STAR ID and conduct other driver license business. In addition, Secretary Taylor would like to remind the public of the 60-day grace period for driver licenses (Code of Alabama, 32-6-1), but customers who would like to renew during the pandemic are encouraged to do so online.

Individuals whose driver licenses must be reinstated may contact the Driver License Division to handle it by phone.

Above, student Hunter and Devon Chapman picked up their bagged lunch last Monday, March 23, from teacher Jamie Hudson and Christina Morgan at the Elba Church of Christ distribution point. Beginning Monday, April 6, meals to Elba's students will be delivered on Mondays at designated locations and will include 5 breakfast and 5 lunch meals for that week. Please see Page 7 for more information on this meal delivery plan.

Despite some courthouse closures

Courts remain open in Alabama to ensure public's access to justice

While many courthouses throughout the state are shuttering as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic, the Courts in Alabama remain open for business.

"As Coffee County Bar President, I think it is important for people to know that even though there have been some changes to how things are operating during these unprecedented times, the court system is still open. This situation and the orders from the Supreme Court of Alabama have not altered filing deadlines and statutes of limitations," said attorney James Tarbox. "People's legal rights could be adversely affected if they are not properly advised during this time."

Leaders of the Alabama State Bar are working in close coordination with the Supreme Court of Alabama, the Administrative Office of Courts, and the Circuit and District Judges Associations. Access to justice and the court system in Alabama has not changed as a result of the closure of courthouse facilities. Although the public has been prohibited from coming to the courtrooms, the business of the judicial branch continues in a variety of innovative ways.

Alabama Supreme Court Chief Justice Tom Parker has assembled appropriate staff members to implement systems that keep the public safe while also allowing judges continue to keep the legal process working for the people of Alabama.

"Judges, court personnel and lawyers continue to work on behalf of the public we serve to move cases in an efficient and safe manner by phone and videoconferencing technology," Parker said.

Alabama State Bar President Christy Crow, in partnership with judicial leaders in Alabama, sent a letter to Governor Kay Ivey last week, writing in part, "The ability of the courts to continue to provide justice during these uncertain and trying times is essential to public safety and the welfare of Alabama citizens and businesses."

"We are working diligently to ensure lawyers in Alabama can continue to provide necessary legal services to Alabamians," added Crow.

Judge Teresa T. Pulliam, President of the Alabama Circuit Judges Association, and Judge Carole Medley, President of the Alabama District Judges Association wrote in a joint statement, "Please know that providing access to justice and the protection of the legal profession will continue to be our priority. We will continue to discharge our duty to the public we serve by being accessible by phone, email, teleconference and video conference. In the criminal courts, judges, district attorneys and lawyers are working together to ensure the safety of victims and the public while guaranteeing and protecting the constitutional rights of the accused. Emergency hearings are being handled on a case by case basis and in person when needed, as set out by the Supreme Court."

Tarbox said attorneys of Coffee County are still working and are prepared to assist clients the same as prior to this public health issue, while following applicable CDC and Public Health guidelines and recommendations.

"If someone has a legal issue or question, I recommend they contact an attorney's office via phone or email," said Tarbox. "Here in Coffee County our attorneys stand ready to answer the call, render service, and ensure the legal rights of all are protected in this time."

For continuing and updated information about the courts please visit the Alabama State Bar's COVID-19 webpage at www.alabar.org/covid19 or the Unified Judicial System's website, www.alacourt.gov.

COMMUNITY NEWS

Alabama Extension Office offers tips

Get organized while social distancing

The coronavirus (COVID-19) is bringing the new reality of social distancing to all. Social distancing leaves everyone with more time on his or her hands than usual. Well, no time like the present to be productive and use this time to prepare for the unexpected.

Organizing important records and papers is a task that is always dreaded, mainly for the lack of time to get it done. The unexpected time now will not be available when emergencies arise. In those times of emergencies, having easy access to important records and papers is important.

What are the benefits of organizing important records and papers?

- Easy accessibility.
- Proof of transactions.
- Availability to assist personal representative of your estate.
- Awareness of documentation needed to complete records and legal papers.
- Peace of mind

The biggest obstacle to overcome is getting started. As with anything, remember to take things a little at a time.

Start by going through current mail as it arrives. There will be time later to go back and look through the backlog.

Designate a comfortable work area. Have good lighting and needed supplies within reach. Keep a trash can handy to dispose of unwanted and unnecessary papers and junk mail.

Then make a plan. Set aside a regular time, perhaps weekly, to maintain the organization process. Once this plan is in place, stick to it. Complete the inventory, update it annually, and locate any missing items.

The following is a list of items to locate and include in your organization process.

Personal Family Records

- Insurance policies
- Health records
- Education records
- Employment records
- Licenses to practice

Property Records

- Property deeds
- Motor vehicle records
- Equipment warranties, guarantees, and instruction books
- Records of home purchase and improvements
- Real estate records
- Burial plots
- Time-share information
- Property improvement

records

Financial Records

- Earnings records
- Account records from financial institutions
- Credit and debit card information
- Personal tax returns
- Retirement benefits
- Notes and money owed
- Credit records
- Pension or retirement information
- Contracts and debts
- Tax information
- Investments

Permanent/Legal Records

- Birth and death certificates
- Adoption papers
- Marriage records
- Divorce decree
- Military records
- Social Security card
- Passport
- Current estate planning information
- Will
- Advance directives for health care
- ~ Living will
- ~ Durable power of attorney

Now that all of the important documents are gathered, that gives a good idea of what is missing. This is a time to request those lost, stolen, or destroyed papers before needed.

Governor Ivey awards $9.5 million in broadband expansion grants

Gov. Kay Ivey this week awarded 20 grants totaling more than $9.5 million to provide high-speed internet access to numerous communities throughout Alabama.

The grants, part of the Alabama Broadband Accessibility Fund, were awarded to nine broadband providers to fund multiple projects in their coverage areas.

"Availability of high-speed internet has always been vital, but the events of the past several weeks magnify just how imperative it is that all Alabamians have access to broadband," Gov. Ivey said. "I am pleased to support these projects and look forward to the day when every household, school, healthcare facility, emergency service and business throughout Alabama is afforded broadband availability."

The fund, which is being administered through the Alabama Department of Economic and Community Affairs, was created by the Alabama Legislature in 2018 to provide high-speed internet to rural and underserved areas of the state.

"As our day-to-day way of living has been impacted over the past few weeks, it has underscored the value and necessity of high-speed broadband services. That is something that Governor Ivey, the Legislature and ADECA have been working to address through the Broadband Accessibility Fund," ADECA Director Kenneth Boswell said. "ADECA takes its role in administering this program seriously and is honored to be entrusted with the responsibility."

This latest round of Broadband Accessibility grants came from applications submitted in late December 2019. Additional awards from this round of applications could also be announced.

Of local interest for Coffee County and several surrounding counties, Troy Cablevision was awarded $1.38 million for service in parts of Coffee, Covington, Geneva and Houston counties including 1,190 households and 80 businesses.

Troy Cablevision also was awarded $750,625 for service in parts of Coffee, Crenshaw and Pike counties including 603 households and 38 businesses.

Other providers receiving grants included: Central Alabama Electric Cooperative, Charter Communications (Autaugaville), Comcast of Alabama (serving the Town of Dauphin Island), Hayneville Telephone Co., Hayneville Fiber Transport Inc. (Camellia Communications), JTM Broadband, Mon-Cre Telephone Cooperative, National Telephone of Alabama, and Roanoke Telephone Co.

ADECA administers a wide range of programs that support law enforcement, victim programs, economic development, water resource management, energy conservation and recreation.

Our grandson Lawson has already grown tired of playing his video games and last week asked his Nanny if she would order him some books to read during his time away from the classroom. The books were ordered and have already arrived, but we reminded him that he could still go outside for walks and practice his archery and other sports to get him out of the house. I know there will some school-work to do beginning next week, but he will need lots to do to keep him busy, and we as grandparents will do our best to make sure he makes the best out of the bad situation.

For what it is worth....

 The world of sports has come to a screeching halt since the outbreak of the virus that is spreading across our world and locally it has marked the end of high school athletics for the school year. The lack of sports at the high school level has broken the hearts of thousands of student-athletes and fans, and while I think there may have been alternative solutions to the spreading of the virus, I agree it is always best to put safety first. I have a few ideas that I will use in the coming weeks to give all local sports fans something to read, but will be glad to hear your ideas and possibly use them in the long 'dead period' for sports.

 The fishing at the Coffee County Lake has really picked up in recent weeks and anglers of all ages are enjoying the time off to get out and wet their hooks. It is one of the few sporting activities still allowed, and hopefully will remain a way to get the family outside and stay healthy in the fresh Alabama air!

SEASON CANCELLED!

Alabama High School Athletic Association executive director Steve Savarese used words like "disappointed" and "deeply saddened" last week when he made it official that a directive from Gov. Kay Ivey had indeed cancelled all high school sports in the state for the remainder of the school year.

In a press release posted at the AHSAA website, the association stated "We understand the hardships and disappointments you are facing due to the school closures, but also know, we are committed to putting the health, safety and overall well-being of our administrators, coaches and student-athletes at the forefront during this challenging time, and our priorities must focus on returning to a normal school year in 2020-2021 and graduating the seniors of 2020."

In a press release released on Friday, March 27, Savarese said, "Like thousands of others, I am deeply saddened and disappointed that our schools have closed and that spring sports will not have an opportunity to finish their seasons. Even more so, I am disheartened for all the student-athletes, contest officials, their coaches, families, student bodies, fans, communities, and especially our seniors. We are facing an unprecedented health crisis, but I am prayerful that the steps we are taking now within our schools and across the nation will enable all those affected to return to a sense of normalcy sooner than later."

The shutdown also resulted in the cancellation of all athletic activities, including contests, practices, weightlifting and conditioning. A coach will not be allowed to have physical contact with nor work with any students during this time, and schools will not be permitted to allow the use of any facilities during the mandated school closure.

Elba baseball and softball seniors recognized prior to seasons being cancelled due to COVID-19

The Elba High School baseball and softball seniors were recognized recently on 'senior recognition night' held uncharacteristically early due to concerns over the coronavirus pandemic shutting down the seasons prematurely this year. Those fears were realized last week when it was announced there would be no more high school sports this school year due to the public health safety orders in place, which also closed school buildings for the remainder of the school year.

The Elba senior baseball players were recognized on their home field and followed this recognitions with an intra-squad scrimmage after the team's regularly scheduled game versus Wicksburg was cancelled.

The Elba senior softball players were recognized in Kinston as the team had a regularly scheduled away game in Kinston on the evening the recognitions were held to make sure the players were recognized in case the seasons were over at that point.

Elba City Schools superintendent Chris Moseley publicly thanked, during an Elba Board of Education meeting, Coffee County Schools superintendent Kevin Killingsworth and Kinston Schools principal Danny Branch for their willingness to help the Elba program in recognizing its seniors prior to that game due to the unprecedented circumstances. He said the assured a special evening for these players, and it was truly appreciated.

Moseley also thanked the baseball coaches and Elba parents for making the night special for those players as well after their regular game was cancelled.

Due to COVID-19 pandemic

Future of 2020 youth baseball/softball season in Elba remains uncertain

Due to continued COVID-19 concerns and public health safety orders, Elba Parks and Recreation this week addressed the questions surround the future of the local 2020 youth baseball and softball seasons.

"At this point, there remains a great deal of uncertainty about ball season," Elba Parks and Recreation director Greg Hanchey said. "To relate, think of a puzzle with the majority of the pieces missing. Far too many variables remain to answer anything with any amount of certainty at this time."

Hanchey said with last week's announcement from state officials increasing the number of business/public park, etc. closures and extending the public health safety orders through April 17 that it will be at least until then before practices can even resume.

"Time is the only reliable instrument we can currently use as the situation continues to evolve," Hanchey said. "Meanwhile, we wait."

He did encourage all citizens to obey the public health orders regarding social distancing to contribute to helping to flatten the curve concerning the coronavirus. Experts say this is the best way to get the matter under control to allow society to return to a sense of normalcy sooner rather than later.

COVID-19 health safety mandates close public parks in Elba

The City of Elba's Parks and Recreation Department closed the public parks in Elba after 5 p.m. Saturday, March 28, in accordance with the State of Alabama's public safety order that all 'public playgrounds' be closed through Friday, April 17, at 5 p.m.

This closure was one of several mandated by state officials last week to help reduce the spread of COVID-19 virus currently plaguing the state and nation.

Elba Parks and Recreation director Greg Hanchey said signage is in place at Elba's public parks, including Tiger Town Park, Hawkins-Williams Park and the Elba Recreation Center, noting the mandated closure at this time.

"We understand these measures will temporarily dampen the spirits of many people," Hanchey said. "We certainly look forward to the time when a sense of normalcy is restored, and our parks are once again filled with joy!"

Prohibited activities related to parks and recreation until April 17th include:

- Spectator Sports
- Activities on Commercial or Public Playground Equipment
- Sports that involve interaction with another person of closer than 6 feet
- Activities that require use of shared sporting apparatus and equipment

Elba Parks and Recreation asks for compliance to these orders. The closed parks will be patrolled, and violators may be fined up to $500 per incident.
